GOVERNOR CLARK'S MESSAGE.
ALBANY, Dec. 30, 1854. We understand that the Governor elect has not yet lectided as to the propriety of allowing his forthcoming message to go out of the city in advance of its delivery to the Legislature. It is quite probable, however, that levernor Clark will adopt the same course as has been adopted by his predecessors for several years past, and take measures to have his message delivered simultaneously to the public of New York and Albany.

The message of Governor Price, of this State, was sent the Legislature yesterday. It shows that the baluace in the treasury on the 1st of October last was 1925,000. No reduction of taxes is recommended, but the Governor advises the application of the surplus to the redemption of the outstanding debts of the State. The recommends the extension of the charter of the Bank course of construction, and deprecates new schemes till these projected are completed; advises that, instead of setting apart a portion of the revenue of the State for the support of schools, a special tax be collected. In connection with a hope that the railroad to the Pacific will pass through Missouri, the Governor expresses the epinion that a mail and telegraph line could be established from St. Louis to San Francisco, so that a letter mail majerat be conveyed between the two points in from say. enteen to twenty days, at about one-half the present contract price, while a telegraph would bring us in hourly communication with our Pacific neighbors.

Splendidly Hinstrated.—Ballow's, late Gleasen's, Pictorial for the new year is already issued, and for sale by S. FRENCH. 121 Nassau street. We have never seen a handsomer illustrated paper, either European or American. On the first page is an admirable original design illustrative of Winter; a fine series of six views follow, representing interesting and striking scenes in the Orkney Islands. Next comes a large original double page engraving, covering an entire opening of this royal octave sheet, representing all the steamers and sailing vessels of the United States navy, now afford, each being a likeness and drawn from life. This engraving alone is worth a year's subscription. Following this we have an admirable original portrait of Donald McKay, the great shipbuilder, with an original sketch of the new Cambridge Bridge, a fine view of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., including a correct representation of Gore Hall, attached to the institution. On the last page is given a large full sheet original drawing, forming a natural history illustration, grouped with exquisite taste, and admirably engraved; all making eight illustrated pages, and being one more than has ever before been given, an addition which will be continued throughout the year. Add to all this the fact that the Pictorial contains its usual freight of excellent reading matter, miscellaneous, editorials, news, wit and humor, and we are led to wonder how such a publication can be afforded for six cents. Let those whice would procure a valuable and interesting weekly journal, which will carry amusement, instruction and delight into their family circles, subscribe for Glesson's Pictorial, and procure the work regularly.
